alter	alter_description
department_of_homeland_security	‘The Department of Homeland Security’s (DHS) mission is to ensure a homeland that is safe, secure, and resilient against terrorism and other hazards. DHS has an expansive mission set: preventing terrorism and enhancing security; securing our borders; enforcing immigration laws; securing cyberspace; and ensuring disaster response and resilience. The men and women of this Department support key Presidential priorities, while protecting our country, our people, and our way of life.’ ¹ According to DHS: ‘Border security is national security. Millions of travelers and thousands of pounds of goods are processed through our Ports of Entry (POEs) every day. Facilitating the flow of people and goods supports our economy and upholds our freedoms. Securing our Nation’s land borders is necessary to stem the tide of illicit goods and unwanted criminals across the sovereign physical border of the Nation. To stop criminals and terrorists from threatening our homeland, we must invest in personnel, infrastructure, and technology.’ ² DHS is the overarching cabinet-level agency responsible for identifying and processing asylum seekers and other individuals in need of protection at borders, as well as in the interior of the US. secretary_exec_mgmt_dhs	The Office of the Secretary and Executive Management (‘OSEM’) ‘provides leadership, direction, and management to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS).’ ³ OSEM also ‘ensures a coordinated effort to build a safe, secure, and resilient homeland, by directing the Department’s efforts to prevent terrorism and enhance security, secure and manage borders, enforce and administer the Nation’s immigration laws, safeguard and secure cyberspace, ensure resilience to disasters, and support national and economic security.’ ⁴ OSEM ‘includes the Office of the Secretary, Office of Partnership and Engagement, Office of Strategy, Policy, and Plans, Office of Public Affairs, Office of Legislative Affairs, Office of the General Counsel, Office for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Privacy Office, and the Office of the Citizenship and Immigration Services Ombudsman.’ ⁵
secretary_osem_dhs	The Secretary of Homeland Security ‘oversees Department of Homeland Security (DHS) efforts to counter terrorism and enhance security, secure and manage our borders while facilitating trade and travel, enforce and administer our immigration laws, safeguard and secure cyberspace, build resilience to disasters, and provide essential support for national and economic security - in coordination with federal, state, local, international and private sector partners.’ ⁶ chief_of_staff_osem_dhs	The Chief of Staff (‘COS’) ‘is responsible for coordinating policy initiatives and other actions of the Department’s components, directorates, and offices. The COS oversees DHS activities, assists the Deputy in managing DHS operations, and supports the Secretary.’ ⁷ military_advisor_osem_dhs	‘The primary responsibility of the Military Advisor is to provide counsel and support to the Secretary and Deputy Secretary in affairs relating to policy, procedures, preparedness activities, and operations between DHS and the Department of Defense (DoD). As the senior military officer at DHS headquarters, the Military Advisor’s essential functions include: Deploying at the discretion of the Secretary and Deputy Secretary for major incidents or other contingencies. Serving as the focal point for DHS-DoD collaboration through established working groups and a cooperative approach to homeland security, homeland defense, and incident management. Being a key advisor to DHS senior staff and Components on matters involving policy and procedure development, information and resources exchanges, and operations between DHS and DoD. ‘Enabling synchronization and coordination with DoD through the fostering of relationships, including hosting and supporting DoD senior liaisons at DHS from the Office of the Secretary of Defense, U.S. Northern Command, U.S. Southern Command, U.S. Special Operations Command, and the National Guard Bureau. Facilitating action involving USCG component level issues for maximum responsiveness as the senior USCG officer resident at DHS headquarters.’ ⁸ executive_secretary_osem_dhs	The Office of the Executive Secretary (‘ESEC’) ‘establishes effective and efficient protocols for processing all internal communications, decision management briefings, Congressional questions for the record and reports, and Department-wide testimony. ESEC is the principal liaison between the Department and its Components, and coordinates all external correspondence for the Immediate Office of the Secretary and all directorates.’ ⁹ deputy_secretary_osem_dhs	‘The Immediate Office of the Deputy Secretary supports the Secretary by providing leadership with a focus on the internal management and direction of the Department to ensure its efficient and effective operation. The Deputy Secretary’s role is to provide internal oversight of all Departmental operations, which allows the Secretary to focus on external matters concerning homeland security and DHS.’ ¹⁰ strategy_policy_plans_osem_dhs	The Office of Strategy, Policy, and Plans (‘PLCY’) is ‘DHS’s mission-oriented organization and the principal advising office for the Secretary, Deputy Secretary, and component senior leadership on departmental policy and strategy.’¹¹ PLCY ‘serves as a central resource to the Secretary and other Department leaders for policy development and review, strategic planning and analysis, and facilitation of decision-making on the full breadth of issues that may arise across the dynamic homeland security enterprise. PLCY is responsible for strengthening our Nation’s homeland security by developing DHS-wide policies, programs, and planning to promote and ensure the highest level of performance, quality, consistency, and integration in the execution of all homeland security missions. PLCY represents and coordinates the consolidated DHS position at White House interagency committee meetings. The Office develops and articulates the long-term strategic view of the Department and translates the Secretary’s strategic priorities into planning products that drive increased operational effectiveness through integration, prioritization, and resource allocation.’¹² ‘The Executive Office of PLCY manages sub-offices managed by the PLCY Executive Office to include Threat Prevention & Security Policy (TPSP), Strategy, Plans, Analysis, & Risk (SPAR), Border, Immigration, & Trade Policy (BIT), International Affairs (OIA), and Cyber, Infrastructure and Resilience Policy (CIR).’¹³ strategy_policy_plans_exec_os em_dhs	‘The Executive Office includes the Under Secretary and Deputy Under Secretary positions and manages the following: The Executive Secretariat functions; training and education programs, which include intern and Presidential Management Fellow programs; operations and resource management; Freedom of Information Act requests and inquiries; Privacy and Audit Liaison functions; and the Department’s coordination process for Policy Coordination Committees (PCCs). Moreover, The Executive Office provides a centralized coordination point for developing and communicating policies across multiple sub offices within PLCY, throughout the Department, and across the homeland security enterprise. The Under Secretary serves as the coordinator of Department-wide policies and planning to advance and ensure consistency and integration among DHS missions.’¹⁴ threat_prevention_security_policy_osem_dhs	‘Threat Prevention and Security Policy (‘TPSP’) supports the Department’s mission to secure the Homeland by countering terrorism, transnational criminal organizations, hostile nation states, human trafficking, and emerging threats, and addressing global transportation security, screening and vetting, watchlisting, information sharing, identity management and credentialing, and biometrics through the development and coordination of department-wide strategy, policy and plans, and the administration of programs such as REAL ID, Countering Unmanned Aerial Systems (C-UAS), Travel WISER, and Visa Waiver. Additionally, TPSP’s Targeted Violence and Terrorism Prevention (TVTP) is the primary entity responsible for building, maturing, and driving the prevention mission in DHS and works to equip and empower local efforts to prevent individuals from mobilizing to violence.’ ¹⁵ strategy_plans_analysis_risk_policy_osem_dhs	‘Strategy, Plans, Analysis & Risk (SPAR) supports the DHS mission by developing Department-wide strategies and operational plans on cross-cutting topics, issues, and contingencies. SPAR also provides coordinating support and guidance to the Joint Task Forces and facilitates Joint Incident Action decision support for DHS senior leaders. Finally, SPAR integrates the Department’s management processes and develops the Secretary’s annual resource allocation guidance. SPAR’s policymaking responsibilities focus on long-term planning and analysis to inform senior DHS leadership decisions on the future homeland security mission.’ ¹⁶ The Office of Strategy and Analysis (‘S&A’) and the Office of Operational Plans (‘PLANS’) are part of SPAR. ‘S&A develops strategic guidance for DHS, delineates senior leadership priorities to inform downstream business processes, and aligns component mission programs with DHS strategic goals and objectives. PLANS coordinates the development and execution of departmental and joint, interdepartmental operational plans to execute DHS missions and objectives.’ ¹⁷ border_immigration_trade_policy_osem_dhs	‘Border, Immigration & Trade Policy (BIT) supports DHS’s border security and immigration missions by developing and coordinating policies on the transit of people and goods across U.S. borders. With respect to trade, BIT coordinates Department-wide policy initiatives on customs revenue, border security, cargo security, trade agreements compliance, and export control enforcement. On immigration matters, BIT consolidates Component statistics and conducts quantitative studies to assess immigration trends and effects, advises Department leadership on immigration policies and regulations, and engages interagency counterparts on immigration policies. Additionally, BIT serves as the primary DHS point of contact for the Council on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) by promulgating policies, processes, procedures, and other guidance for DHS participation in CFIUS. BIT’s policymaking responsibilities ensure consistency on all border, immigration, and trade matters across DHS’s various Components.’ ¹⁸ international_affairs_plcy_osem_dhs	‘International Affairs (OIA) supports all of DHS’s missions by managing and coordinating the Department’s extensive international activities and cooperation with international partners. As the DHS lead for international affairs, OIA develops, coordinates, and implements the Department’s international priorities, security sector assistance, and attaché deployment. Additionally, OIA contains regional divisions that coordinate with interagency counterparts and facilitate relations with foreign governments and international organizations. OIA’s initiatives leverage international partnerships to support and enhance the domestic homeland security mission. OIA serves a supporting function of all DHS Secretarial level international engagements.’ ¹⁹ public_affairs_osem_dhs	The Office of Public Affairs (‘OPA’) is 'responsible for managing the Department’s external and internal communications. The office responds to media inquiries, maintains and updates the Department’s website, writes speeches for senior Department officials, and coordinates speaking events. The office manages the Department’s organizational identity program, which includes usage of the DHS seal and related guidelines. Also, the office oversees the Department’s employee communication activities, which include coordinating communications for Department-wide initiatives, town hall meetings between management and employees, and the operation and management of an intranet site. Per the Homeland Security Presidential Directive (HSPD) 5, OPA’s incident communications program guides overall Federal incident communication activity and coordinates with State, local, and international partners to ensure accurate and timely information is provided to the public during a crisis.’ ²⁰ strategic_communications_pa_osem_dhs	Strategic Communications 'provides overall management for implementation of communication plans relating to DHS programs and policies, rules/regulations, and complex domestic and international issues requiring extensive outreach and public education.’ ²¹ press_secretary_pa_osem_dhs	The Press Secretary 'coordinates media relations and serve as the spokespersons for the Secretary, senior leadership, and the Department.’ ²² legislative_affairs_osem_dhs	The Office of Legislative Affairs ('OLA') is 'responsible for executing the Secretary's legislative and congressional relations priorities. The mission of OLA is to serve as a primary liaison to Members of Congress and their staff, to respond to inquiries from Congress and notify Congress of Department initiatives, policies, and programs. OLA is responsible to inform the Department's senior leaders on the activities of Congress and enhance the ability of the Department to execute its missions by providing timely information to Members of Congress about our efforts to prevent terrorism and enhance security; manage our borders; administer immigration laws; secure cyberspace; and ensure disaster resilience. OLA underpins an integrated approach that recognizes the interconnectedness of DHS's legislative mission with a sound, robust and fully engaged staff to formulate the legislation recommendations that drive the priorities of the Administration and Secretary.' ²⁴ assistant_secretary_la_osem_dhs	The Office of the Assistant Secretary 'includes the Assistant Secretary, Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary/Chief of Staff and two Deputy Assistant Secretaries and acts as the conduit for the continuous exchange of information between Congress and the Department. The office advises the Secretary on key legislative strategies, facilitates the DHS Senate-confirmation process, clearly articulates DHS' views in support of needed authorities and appropriations, and directs the Department's complex congressional relations programs ensuring a cross-Departmental approach for DHS to speak with one, informed voice to Members of Congress and their staffs.' ²⁵ legislative_affairs_teams_la_osem_dhs	The Legislative Affairs Teams 'serves as the primary liaison to Congress and advocates for the policy interest of the Administration and the Secretary, ensures that all DHS Components are actively engaged with Congress by responding to requests and inquiries from congressional committees, Members of Congress and their staffs, and fully participates in the DHS Senate confirmation process. There are 5 teams within OLA that focus on specific legislative issue areas: Headquarters; Operational Component Coordination; Intelligence and Cyber; Oversight and Executive Support. An additional Mission Support Team oversees the daily administrative operations of the office to support the legislative affairs priorities of OLA and the Department.' ²⁶

foia_team_privacy_osem_dhs	The 'DHS Chief Privacy Officer is the Department's Chief FOIA Officer. Agency Chief FOIA Officers have statutory responsibility for monitoring FOIA operations across the Department and recommending adjustments to agency practices, policies, personnel, and funding as may be necessary to improve performance, providing FOIA-related training, and preparing the required annual reports on the Department's FOIA performance. While Components are subject to the oversight of the Chief Privacy Officer, operations at DHS are decentralized and DHS Components are responsible for establishing and maintaining their own FOIA programs. The FOIA function in the Privacy Office is carried out by three teams: FOIA Policy, Compliance and Training, FOIA Disclosure, and FOIA Appeals and Litigation. Disclosure. The FOIA Disclosure Team processes initial FOIA and Privacy Act requests to the Office of the Secretary (including the Military Advisor's Office) and many offices within DHS Headquarters. DHS programs are wide-ranging, and the processing of requests requires close coordination with many internal and external customers, including other Federal agencies, State and local governments, foreign entities, and private companies. DHS Privacy Office Government Information Specialists also provide expert FOIA guidance to the Component FOIA Offices and communicate regularly with DHS's many stakeholders. Additionally, the DHS Privacy Office also regularly uses its staff and management expertise to assist Components with processing and management of their program or parts of their program.¹³⁸ 'The FOIA Policy, Compliance and Training Team prepares policy guidance, conducts oversight activities, and provides DHS-specific FOIA training. This team collects, compiles, and analyzes monthly FOIA reports from DHS Components, prepares the DHS Annual FOIA Report and Chief FOIA Officer Report, and tracks significant FOIA activity through daily and weekly reporting. Additionally, the team compiles and analyzes Component FOIA self-assessments to identify best practices to improve performance and addresses particular Component compliance issues. Finally, the team arranges DHS-specific training opportunities, provides ad hoc training on a variety of FOIA issues, manages the Resources for DHS FOIA Employees repository available on the Department's intranet, and conducts bi-weekly FOIA Training for New Employees.¹³⁹ 'The FOIA Appeals and Litigation Team serves as liaison between the Office of the General Counsel (OGC) and the Privacy Office leadership on complex FOIA requests. The team provides guidance and training on recent developments in the field of disclosure, including court decisions and current legislation. The team researches, analyzes, and evaluates complex FOIA requests to determine if the FOIA and Privacy Act were properly applied during the original processing of a FOIA request.¹⁴⁰ policy_oversight_team_privacy_osem_dhs	The Policy and Oversight Team ‘bears primary responsibility for the development of DHS privacy policy, as well as providing subject matter expertise and support for policy development throughout the Department in areas that affect individual privacy. These areas include privacy protections and strategies in how the Department may use tools, technologies, and methodologies including social media, “big data,” enterprise data management, cybersecurity, mobile technology, acquisitions and procurement, and international engagement. In addition, this team is dedicated to implementing accountability and continually improving DHS privacy processes and programs, such as in the development of the National Vetting Center (NVC), established by National Security Presidential Memorandum - 9.’ ⁴¹ civil_rights_civil_liberties_osem_dhs	The Office for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties (‘CRCL’) ‘supports the Department as it secures the Nation while preserving individual liberty, fairness, and equality under the law. CRCL performs four key functions to integrate civil rights and civil liberties into Departmental activities: Promotes respect for civil rights and civil liberties in policy creation and implementation by advising and training DHS leadership and personnel, and State and local partners, and in conducting oversight of DHS programs as appropriate. Communicates with individuals and communities whose civil rights and civil liberties may be affected by DHS activities, informs them about policies and avenues of redress, and promotes appropriate attention within the Department to their experiences and concerns. Investigates and issues recommendations regarding civil rights and civil liberties complaints filed by the public regarding DHS policies or activities, or actions taken by DHS personnel. Leads the Department’s Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) programs and promotes workforce diversity and merit system principles. CRCL’s staff is organized into nine functional units that focus on civil rights and liberties issues that are affected by the Department’s activities.’ ⁴² ‘The nine functional units that focus on civil rights and liberties issues within CRCL are the CRCL Front Office, Business Operations Division, HQ Equal Employment Opportunity Office, Equal Employment Opportunity Branch and the Diversity Management Branch, Complaints Management and Adjudication Section, Diversity Management Section, Alternative Dispute Resolution Program and Anti-Harassment Unit, Programs Branch, and the Compliance Branch.’ ⁴³ front_office_crcl_osem_dhs	The Front Office ‘provides advice to DHS leadership on civil rights and civil liberties issues impacting the DHS programs and/or activities. This includes providing civil rights expertise regarding immediate issues affecting the DHS mission which implicate civil rights or liberties concerns.’ ⁴⁴

The Office for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties (CRCL) Immigration Section works collaboratively with U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP), the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC), and other Department offices and components to: incorporate civil rights and civil liberties protections into immigration-related programs, policies, procedures, and operations throughout the Department; Communicate with and inform the public about the civil rights and civil liberties implications of Department immigration programs, policies, procedures, and operations; and Provide or assist in the development of civil rights and civil liberties training to Department Components.⁴⁸ 'The Immigration Section works with ICE to design and implement policies, procedures, and guidance to protect the civil and human rights of immigrant detainees while fulfilling the DHS mission. Reforms have included: an online detainee locator system; immigration detention policy; policy safeguarding parental interests; improved risk assessment tools; the development of guidance on the care of transgender detainees in ICE custody; monitoring use of segregation in detention; and revising ICE's detention standards, including the Performance-Based National Detention Standards, the Family Residential Standards, and the National Detention Standards.⁴⁹ 'The CRCL Officer is the designated Department single point of contact for international human rights treaty reporting and coordination under Executive Order 13107. The Immigration Section works with DHS components to develop and advance protective policies, procedures, and training for victims of torture and persecution, battered immigrants, trafficked persons, and other needing special attention. The Section is a longstanding, active member of the DHS Blue Campaign and plays an integral role in developing human trafficking training for a wide variety of audiences, including state and local law enforcement.⁵⁰ compliance_branch_crcl_osem _dhs	The Compliance Branch 'investigates complaints from the public, media reports, and other sources, alleging civil rights or civil liberties violations by Department personnel or programs, including disability discrimination prohibited by the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, inappropriate use of force by DHS officers or agents, inadequate conditions of detention, violation of right to due process, and racial or ethnic profiling. CRCL makes formal recommendations to DHS Component leadership stemming from its investigations to address issues related to civil rights, such as changes to DHS policies, practices, and training. Except for disability accommodation claims under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, CRCL does not order individual relief or redress for a complainant.⁵¹

The office strategically fosters relationships with the State and local law enforcement community, including national associations, which plays a vital role in homeland security, to promote constructive dialogue to address national security issues. By enhancing its understanding of State, local, tribal, and campus law enforcement’s issues, concerns, and recommendations, OSLLE and the Department are better positioned to inform policy decisions, develop programs, and support a critical partner – ultimately making communities safer. OSLLE also leads the coordination of Department-wide activities on critical issues and plays a leadership role in shaping public safety priorities relating to the role of State and local law enforcement in preventing, preparing for, protecting against, and responding to natural disasters, acts of terrorism, and other incidents within the United States.’⁵⁶ ‘On the recommendation of the 9/11 Commission, Congress created the Office for State and Local Law Enforcement (OSLLE) in 2007 for two key purposes: 1. Lead the coordination of DHS-wide policies related to state, local, tribal, territorial, and campus law enforcement’s role in preventing, preparing for, protecting against, and responding to natural disasters, acts of terrorism, and other man-made disasters within the United States; and 2. Serve as the primary liaison between DHS and non-Federal law enforcement agencies across the country.’⁵⁷ ‘Serve as the primary Department liaison to state, local, tribal, territorial, campus law enforcement; Advise the Secretary on the issues, concerns, and recommendations of state, local, tribal, territorial, and campus law enforcement ... operations_coordination_dhs	The Office of Operations Coordination (OPS) 'provides operations coordination, information sharing, situational awareness, common operating picture, Department continuity, and decision support in order to enable the execution of the Secretary's responsibilities across the HSE [Homeland Security Enterprise].... OPS has unique statutory roles and responsibilities. It serves as the focal point for information sharing, decision support products, situational awareness, and coordination among DHS Components; Federal, state, local, tribal, and territorial (SLTT) agencies; nongovernmental agencies; the private sector; international partners; and Federal operations and fusion centers. Additionally, OPS ensures the resilience of the DHS overall mission through its leadership of the Department's Continuity of Operations Program.' ¹¹⁹ 'In coordination with homeland security partners, OPS integrates Department-level incident and crisis management activities. OPS manages the National Operations Center, providing critical awareness to partners at all levels of the HSE, and leads the JIAG in delivering coordinated Department responses to high-priority homeland security missions.' ¹²⁰
operations_deputies_board_oc_dhs	'OPS established the DHS Operations Deputies Board to provide a formalized and consistent mechanism for enabling senior-level, cross-Component operational coordination, information sharing, and issue identification. This board provided critical coordination of complex homeland security issues to include multiple dimensions of the Southwest Border crisis, which facilitated the creation of a DHS surge Volunteer Force. The DHS Volunteer Force provided over 1,000 volunteers who support crisis response.' ¹²¹ national_operations_center_oc_dhs	The National Operations Center (NOC) 'operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year, and serves as the primary, national-level hub for situational awareness, a common operating picture, information fusion, information sharing, and executive communications'. ¹²² The NOC '[p]rovides timely reporting and products derived from traditional and social media monitoring; DHS Component reporting; federal, state, local, tribal, territorial governments, and sector reports to support senior-leader decision making; Provides and maintain information dissemination tools such as a common operating picture and the Homeland Security Information Network (HSIN) to facilitate information sharing with the federal, state, local, tribal, territorial governments, and private sector professionals; and Provides executive-level communications capabilities to link senior leaders to facilitate unity of effort and incident management efforts'. ¹²³ science_technology_dhs	The Science and Technology Directorate (S&T) 'enables effective, efficient, and secure operations across all homeland security missions by applying scientific, engineering, analytic, and innovative approaches to deliver timely solutions and support departmental acquisitions. S&T also partners with the international community, industry as well as Federal, State, local, tribal, and territorial agencies. S&T monitors evolving threats, develops solutions, and bridges capability gaps to equip operational endusers with the best tools available to achieve mission success. S&T conducts customer-focused, outcomeoriented research, development, testing, and evaluation (RDT&E) activities for DHS Components and the Homeland Security Enterprise (HSE) that balance risk, cost, impact, performance, and time to delivery. S&T's University Programs provides the HSE with research and education at U.S. colleges and universities to address high-priority, DHS-related issues and enhances homeland security capabilities over the long-term. S&T also manages two Federally Funded Research and Development Centers to provide independent operational analysis and systems engineering expertise in support of all DHS mission areas. S&T provides technical and operational support to ensure the transition, acquisition, and deployment of technologies, information, and procedures that improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the operational capabilities across HSE missions. S&T enables America's brightest scientists and engineers to apply their expertise and develop solutions that address our most dangerous threats and HSE vulnerabilities. S&T operates and maintains the laboratory facilities that deliver enduring core capabilities that are vital to DHS and the national homeland security mission. This is achieved through a coordinated network of DHS S&T laboratories and the Department of Energy national laboratories. This network of laboratories houses some of the most advanced scientific expertise and capabilities in the world. As a result, the HSE is able to leverage, apply, and transfer this wealth of expertise to inform policy, improve operations, and advance research in support of homeland security.'¹²⁴ The S&T is 'integral to numerous analytic capabilities in the business process units (particularly the JRC and PARM)' of DHS.¹²⁵ S&T 'transitioned Igloo, an advanced data analytics application to combat human smuggling, to ICE. This capability significantly increased ICE's understanding of criminal human smuggling networks, directly leading to arrests and seizure of millions of dollars from illicit financial transactions.'¹²⁶ S&T also manages the System of Systems Operational Analysis (SoSOA), which is a 'collaborative virtual environment to assess the impact and strengthen DHS operations' by enabling DHS to 'assess the potential impact of new policies, processes, or technologies to an organization's mission, which are critical to informing strategic and resource allocation decisions.'¹²⁷ One of S&T's 'mission areas' is 'Enforce and Administer our Immigration Laws'.¹²⁸ S&T seeks to 'facilitate full operational control of the U.S. air, land, and maritime border to prevent illegal entry and illicit activities; to detect, deter, impede, and disrupt transnational organized crime; and to enforce immigration laws and facilitate lawful immigration.'¹²⁹ 'S&T invests in

innovation_collaboration_std_dhs	The Office of Innovation and Collaboration is the S&T 'conduit to a broad network of external partners. It provides the homeland security community outreach and access to partnerships with world-class subject matter experts, resources and innovative tools. It leverages external relationships with other government agencies, industry, foreign partners, and academia to provide S&T programs, DHS Components, and the vast homeland security network with better, faster, and/or cheaper access to innovative security solutions. Those relationships range from informal conversations and coordination with other agency stakeholders to develop innovative, contracted solutions to more formal commercialization support.'¹³³ The Office includes the Interagency Office (IAO), which 'leverages the research and development activities and investments of external organizations and builds partnerships to address high priority homeland security requirements. By identifying and engaging with others who are developing emerging and innovative technologies, we leverage existing R&D capabilities, eliminate duplication of effort and more rapidly identify solutions to satisfy critical DHS mission needs.'¹³⁴ The Office also includes the International Cooperative Programs Office, which 'develops understandings and agreements, identifies new international partnership opportunities to further the HSE mission, facilitates the planning and implementation of international cooperative activities for the HSE, and develops legal mechanisms to support international cooperative activities. ... ICPO engages in the above mentioned activities to coordinate RDT&E among partners, support the development and effective integration of technologies into operations, and make the best use of resources to minimize duplication and obtain more efficient and cost-effective results.'¹³⁵ Finally, 'University Programs (UP) supports homeland security-related research and education at U.S. colleges and universities to address high-priority DHS related issues and to enhance homeland security capabilities over the long term. This PPA includes programs that bring together scientists, mathematicians, and engineers from many academic disciplines and institutions. These researchers are investigating research questions important to DHS, as well as developing new technologies and approaches to solve complex and challenging homeland security problems.'¹³⁶

operational_analysis_center_std_dhs	‘The Homeland Security Act of 2002 (Section 305 of Public Law 107-296, as codified at 6 U.S.C. § 185), authorizes the Secretary of Homeland Security, acting through the Under Secretary for Science and Technology, to establish one or more FFRDCs to provide independent analysis of homeland security issues. The RAND Corporation operates the Homeland Security Operational Analysis Center (HSOAC) as an FFRDC (Federally Funded Research and Development Center) for the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) under contract HSHQDC-16-D-00007. The HSOAC FFRDC provides the government with independent and objective analyses and advice in core areas important to the department in support of policy development, decisionmaking, alternative approaches, and new ideas on issues of significance. The HSOAC FFRDC also works with and supports other federal, state, local, tribal, and public- and private-sector organizations that make up the homeland security enterprise. The HSOAC FFRDC’s research is undertaken by mutual consent with DHS and is organized as a set of discrete tasks.’¹³⁷ ‘HSOAC addresses complex homeland security issues by supporting DHS endeavors to increase the unity of effort across its organization components. HSOAC researchers have expertise in the complexities of meshing military and civilian organizational structures and cultures, and experience assessing workforce and performance management efforts for several DHS components and for other large federal agencies. As homeland security threats, risks and opportunities are not static, HSOAC possesses expert forecasting capability and the capacity to improve its accuracy and effectiveness over time. This is achieved through examining mission risk analysis for capability gaps; assessing threat, vulnerability, and risks from national and international trends with U.S. security implications; and by examining policies and other issues affecting border security.’¹³⁸

We strive to develop and transition technical capabilities to strengthen U.S. land border security and safeguard lawful trade and travel by preventing illegal goods and people from crossing our borders or entering our country illegally. These projects consists of technologies, sensors, radars and more that monitor air, ground, and underground – from drones to tunnels. We want to know who and what is crossing our borders. Our maritime programs and projects are focused technologies employed on the coast and in the water. We work with the U.S. Coast Guard and other maritime response organizations to improve the maritime domain awareness, increasing small vessel interdiction efficiency.'¹⁴¹ 'We work with our international partners to ensure first responders and other stakeholders can communicate, share information and collaborate during cross-border incidents. Through ongoing joint activities with partner countries, we establish interoperability capabilities to overcome challenges arising from the use of disparate communications and information systems and procedures, as well as the lack of interagency agreements. Our work enhances regional and cross border operations and resiliency. Finally, from developing training programs to help agents screen faster and more efficiently to developing biometrics and other airport screening technology, we hope to one day screen at speed. That is, screening individuals in airports and other ports of entry without requiring them take off their shoes or even open their bags.'¹⁴²

ORA's management of the S&T IPT and First Responder Resource Group (FRRG) processes provides the mechanism to carry out these activities. The IPT and FRRG Processes occur annually, with ORA having responsibility to deliver the following: validated and coordinated list of DHS-wide R&D strategic priorities and capability gaps, and traceability of capability gaps to DHS missions and operations. ORA also is responsible for decomposing new capability gaps into actionable R&D requirements. Collectively, these outputs inform S&T leadership decision-making on near and long-term R&D planning and resource allocation. budget_appropriations_oca_cbp_dhs	The Budget & Appropriations Directorate is the OCA lead for the annual Congressional budget and appropriations process. This directorate is the primary CBP liaison to the House and Senate appropriations and budget committees and works to ensure favorable consideration of CBP's budgetary requests and initiatives. Securing adequate funding through the annual appropriations process is a vital part of CBP's legislative work. ¹⁸² The directorate also interacts frequently with the appropriations associate staff of the committee members, as well as various other Congressional staff depending on the nature of their inquiry. Additionally, the branch interacts and responds to requests from the Congressional Budget Office and Congressional Research Service. ¹⁸³

Concurrently, the branch manages the Commissioner's legislative priorities related to CBP operations at the Nation's ports of entry. It serves as the primary agency point of contact for all authorizing committees and Member personal offices on matters related to the admissibility of travelers seeking lawful entry into the United States; cargo security; port-of-entry staffing, facilities, and technology programs; and the National Targeting Center/National Vetting Center. In addition, it is the primary liaison on issues concerning the Office of Intelligence.' ¹⁸⁴ The directorate deals with issues like 'Passenger and cargo targeting efforts', 'CBP officer staffing levels and the Workload Staffing Model', 'CBP land port of entry infrastructure', 'Biometric entry-exit', 'Non-Intrusive Inspection technology', 'Mass migration events at ports of entry', and 'Global pandemic mitigation'. ¹⁸⁵ office_field_operations_cbp_dhs	'Office of Field Operations (OFO) is responsible for conducting immigration inspections at America's [328] POEs. CBP's primary immigration enforcement mission at ports of entry is to confirm that travelers are eligible to enter the United States and to exclude inadmissible aliens. Yet strict enforcement is in tension with a second core mission: to facilitate the flow of lawful travelers, who are the vast majority of persons seeking admission. A fundamental question for Congress and DHS is how to balance these competing concerns. In general, DHS and CBP rely on "risk management" to strike this balance. One part of the risk management strategy is to conduct screening at multiple points in the immigration process, beginning well before travelers arrive at U.S. POEs. DHS and other departments involved in the inspections process use a number of screening tools to distinguish between known, low-risk travelers and lesser-known, higher-risk travelers. Low-risk travelers may be eligible for expedited admissions processing, while higher-risk travelers are usually subject to more extensive secondary inspections.' ¹⁹²

ofc_special_response_team_ofc_cbp_dhs	The Office of Field Operations Special Response Team (SRT) 'was established in fiscal year 2009 in response to Hurricane Katrina, which CBP officials stated demonstrated that OFO needed its own tactical response capability to help maintain order during special events and disasters. SRT members are located at 18 field offices along the southern border and across the country. SRT responds to and counters high-risk, unconventional threats at CBP's ports of entry by conducting national and local special operations. SRT supports national large-scale events, such as National Special Security Events (e.g., Super Bowl) and natural disasters. SRT conducts special missions, such as protection details or support for foreign border security operations, and advises foreign law enforcement agencies, such as the Guatemalan police.' ¹⁹³ 'From fiscal years 2015 through 2019, SRT deployed 3,936 times. Of those, the largest number—36 percent—were to train CBP personnel, and law enforcement officers at other agencies. About 17 percent were to assist interagency partners with warrant service for high-risk operations and apprehensions, and 11 percent were for surveillance activities. SRT also provided security details, such as for DHS and CBP leadership during events (10 percent), and convoys of high-valued property seized by the government (6 percent), such as narcotics. Further, SRT conducted missions to address threats and incidents at ports of entry (9 percent). The remaining 10 percent of deployments included other kinds of missions, such as natural disaster response and support for National Special Security Events.'

national_targeting_center_ofo_cbp_dhs	The National Targeting Center (NTC) ‘is a key component of CBP’s comprehensive border security and management strategy to safeguard travelers and cargo. NTC is the point within the agency where advance data, access to law enforcement and intelligence resources, and enterprise systems converge to conduct the vetting necessary to identify travelers and shipments that pose the highest risk potential to U.S. security, economy, and public safety. Targeting traveler and cargo information plays a pivotal role of CBP’s layered security strategy by extending our borders outward in order to identify and mitigate threats before they board (or are laden on) conveyances destined for the U.S.’¹⁹⁴ ‘CBP employs a layered enforcement strategy, leveraging the NTC’s agile targeting tools such as the ATS [Automated Targeting System] and subject-matter expertise to analyze, assess, and segment risk at every stage of the trade and travel life cycles. NTC uses classified, law enforcement, commercial, and open-source information in innovative ways to identify high-risk travelers and shipments at the earliest point possible, and coordinates with POEs, interagency partners and foreign partners to take appropriate action.’¹⁹⁵ ‘Various NTC operations in both the traveler and cargo environments provide technical efficiencies, automation, and advance vetting and risk segmentation, which results in reducing workloads at POEs. Reduced workloads equate to a corresponding cost avoidance at POEs.’¹⁹⁶ national_vetting_center	'The National Vetting Center (NVC) was created to better coordinate and enhance the vetting efforts of the U.S. government by streamlining and strengthening current vetting procedures. It represents the latest refinement of the U.S. government's ongoing efforts to protect U.S. national security, as well as the security of all travelers visiting the United States, while supporting legitimate travel. ... [T]he NVC will improve the accessibility of information about potential threats to national security, border security, homeland security, and public safety in accordance with law and policy and in a manner that protects individuals' privacy, civil rights, and civil liberties. This includes making intelligence, law enforcement, and other information available to U.S. officials who have the authority to use that information to make determinations about travel or immigration benefits. As a result of these enhancements, as vetting programs are brought into the NVC process, some applications that might have been granted previously in the absence of timely, responsive intelligence, law enforcement, or other information held by national security partners, may now be denied. The NVC will do this by: Creating a Whole of Government Approach to vetting by strengthening relationships with national security partners to ensure all relevant data is available to adjudicators. Expanding the Scope of vetting beyond terrorism to focus on screening for all national security, border security, homeland security and public safety threats. ... HQ Field Operations comprises the following three divisions, all of which provide guidance, implement and inform policy and procedures, and facilitate enhanced coordination between HQ and the field offices: The Domestic Operations Division oversees, directs, and coordinates all ERO Field Operations activities throughout the nation's field offices and sub-offices in an effort to enhance national security, border security, and public safety through the enforcement of DHS' Civil Immigration Enforcement Priorities. The Special Operations Division oversees and coordinates ERO's intelligence collection efforts, firearms training and protective equipment procurement, various tactical programs and communications efforts, and oversees ERO operations that support the prevention, preparedness, response, and recovery plans for critical and significant incidents such as terrorist attacks, natural disasters, or other national emergencies or incidents. The Law Enforcement Systems and Analysis (LESA) Division is responsible for helping inform the development of ERO strategies and supporting continuous enhancement of ERO business processes to execute those strategies. Through data collection and analysis and technology and process improvements, LESA delivers tools, studies, and recommendations that assist ICE's decision-making and planning (strategic, business, and operational). information_governance_privacy_mgmt_ice_dhs	The Office of Information Governance and Privacy ('OIGP') 'oversees the management, sharing, protection and access to ICE data, and ensures the information ICE maintains meets legal and policy requirements. The ICE Chief Data Officer is responsible for lifecycle data management and leads the implementation of the Evidence Act and the Federal Data Strategy requirements at ICE. The ICE Chief Data Officer creates the ICE Data Strategy that provides the vision and the framework to address strategic issues that affect our ability to collect, analyze, produce, and disseminate information relevant to the ICE mission. OIGP's components include the Performance Management Office, the Records and Data Management Unit, the Privacy Unit, the Information Governance Unit and the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Unit. The Performance Management Office (PMO) tracks, reports and aligns all OIGP projects to M&A strategic goals and OIGP's key mission areas. Additionally, the PMO supports the Chief Data Officer (CDO) in utilizing ICE data to support the missions of the Performance Improvement and Evaluation Officers, in addition to CDO liaison duties with the Office of Management and Budget as well as other agencies when ICE data is used for statistical purposes. The PMO utilizes aggressive tracking of unit operations and tactical plans to give leadership timely, forward-looking data that feeds routine decision-making and out-year planning by means of modern reporting tailored to each unit's operational needs. The ICE Privacy Unit oversees the implementation of privacy protections and the transparency of government operations while supporting the ICE mission. Privacy is the concept that personal information about individuals should be respected and properly safeguarded as required by federal law and policy. The ICE Records and Data Management Unit is responsible for providing operational and policy oversight of Records and Information Management (RIM) functions across ICE and ensuring the agency is compliant with the Federal Records Act. Records and information management is the systematic application of management principles, chiefly control, to the recorded information needed and used in the normal course of an agencies business. The ICE Information Governance Unit's mission is to assist the ICE Chief Data Officer by implementing the Evidence Act, overseeing data and information governance policy, and developing the ICE Data Strategy. The Act directed that there shall be a “separate and distinct” OVW within the Department, headed by a Director, who “shall report to the Attorney General and serve as Counsel to the Attorney General on the subject of violence against women, and who shall have final authority over all grants, cooperative agreements, and contracts awarded by the Office.”⁴⁹⁴ 'OVW administers both formula-based and discretionary grant programs, established under VAWA and subsequent legislation. The four formula programs are STOP (Services, Training, Officers, Prosecutors), SASP (Sexual Assault Services Program), State Coalitions, and Tribal Coalitions. The discretionary programs work to support victims and hold perpetrators accountable through promoting a coordinated community response. Funding is awarded to local, state and tribal governments, courts, non-profit organizations, community-based organizations, secondary schools, institutions of higher education, and state and tribal coalitions. Grants are used to develop effective responses to violence against women through activities that include direct services, crisis intervention, transitional housing, legal assistance to victims, court improvement, and training for law enforcement and courts.⁴⁹⁵

As a result, the security of Indian reservations is a key part of the overall integrity of U.S. borders. ⁵⁹¹ ‘The federal government recognizes Indian tribes as distinct, independent political communities with inherent powers of self-government that include enacting substantive law over internal matters and enforcing that law in their own forums.’ ⁵⁹² shadow_wolves_ice	‘The Shadow Wolves comprise a U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) tactical patrol unit based on the Native American Tohono O’odham Nation in southern Arizona. Shadow Wolf officers are known for their ability to track alien and drug smugglers as they attempt to smuggle their illegal commodities across the border. The unit boasts an esteemed history of tracking passed down from generation to generation. The name "Shadow Wolves" refers to the way the unit hunts, like a wolf pack. When one wolf finds prey, it calls in the rest of the wolf pack.’ ⁵⁹³
